ABSTRACT OF FUR LAWS, 1946-47

Compiled by Frank G. Ashbrook, In Charge, Fur Resources,
Division of Wildlife Research

Fur animals are a tremendously valuable natural resource and should play a more important part in the overall plans for the conservation of wildlife. A natural resource that yields an annual income of $100,000,000 to the trappers and $400,000,000 to the retail fur trade should receive much more attention than it is now getting.

Fur animals are the property of the people in the various States, and their taking should be managed for the benefit of all. A large majority of those who trap fur animals are farmers and their sons who depend on this source of revenue to increase the farm income. The employment and the income it furnishes these people should be sufficient justification to arouse public interest in measures to insure a permanent supply of furs. Greater numbers of fur animals will probably be taken this season than for some time past, as there will doubtless be more trappers in the field than at any time since the beginning of World War II. The animals should be taken when the fur is prime, and the pelts should be handled with care so that the trapper will receive the highest market price for them.

Regulations governing the trapping of fur animals are made by the individual States, not by the Federal Government.

The tabulations in this leaflet of the open seasons for 1946-47 on fur animals and the summaries of the provisions of State and Provincial laws concerning possession, sale, shipment, export, and licenses have been prepared primarily to aid Federal officials in conducting investigations under the Lacey Act and enforcing its provisions and to answer inquiries of State game officials, trappers, and other interested persons. Every effort has been made to have the summaries correct, but the trapping seasons in many

States and Provinces being subject to change by orders or regulations of the respective conservation authorities, it would be well for trappers and others concerned to apply direct to the proper agency for the latest information on State and Provincial laws, orders, and regulations before engaging in trapping or other activities involving fur animals or parts thereof.

The Federal Lacey Act is found on page 49 of this leaflet.

Possession and sale.--No restrictions on skins legally taken.

Shipment and export.--No restrictions on skins legally taken.

Licenses.--Citizen, $1; alien, $2. Licensee must submit before July 1 a report of hit catch, giving names and addresses of persons to whom pelts were sold or shipped.

COLORADO

	Open seasons
Beaver, fisher, opossum, otter	No open season.
Fox, wolverine, ringtail cat (all species), mink, muskrat, weasel (see exception)	Nov. 1-Jan. 31.
Exception: The White River, Grand mesa, Uncompahgre, Routt, and Montezuma National Forest areas
Raccoon (see note)	Nov. 1-Nov. 30.

Note.--Raccoons may be hunted with dogs by those in possession of regular trapper's license.

Note.--Special permits in case of damage being done by fur-bearing animals shall be issued only where definite proof is given that damage was actually done. Persons requesting such permits should make application to the nearest officer of the State Game and Fish Department. All pelts taken under these permits shall be divided fifty percent to the permittee and fifty percent to the Game and Fish Department.

Possession and sale.--Skins legally taken may be possessed during the open season and for 15 days thereafter. A permit is required for possession of skins by trapper and dealer 30 days after close of season. These permits expire on September 1 of the year of issue but may be renewed upon application on or before that date. The permit must accompany pelts sold by trapper or dealer whether sold within or out of the State. If the trapper or dealer disposes of only part of the pelts covered by the permit, the original permit must accompany the pelts disposed of and an application made for a new permit to cover the remainder.

Shipment and export.--See Possession and sale. Shipping tags provided by the State Game and Fish Commission must be attached to each bundle shipped, and each bundle must show name, post office address, and license number of shipper. Licensed trappers, dealers, and all persons must obtain a shipping permit from the Commission for each shipment of furs out of the State. The permit must be attached to each bundle shipped and must show the number and kind of each pelt in the shipment, names of shipper and consignee, and license number of consignor. Licensed dealers must furnish the Commission on or before June 30 next or at any time required to do so, a written report showing number and kinds of skins purchased from trappers and the amount paid. Furs purchased from other dealers shall not be included in this report.

Licenses.--Resident, $2; nonresident, $25. Fur dealer: resident, $25; nonresident, $50. The Commission may require licensees to submit such reports as it may deem necessary. Special resident trapping permits are issued without charge to children under fourteen years of age of a resident landowner or farm tenant when application is made to the nearest game warden or fur inspector in writing.

THE FEDERAL LACEY ACT

An act of Congress of May 25, 1900 (31 State. 187), as amended, known as the Lacey Act, provides, among other things, that it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation, or association to deliver or knowingly receive for shipment, transportation, or carriage, or to ship, transport, or carry, by any means whatever from any State, Territory, or the District of Columbia to, into, or through any other State, Territory, or the District of Columbia, or to a foreign country, any wild animal, or the dead body or part thereof, imported from any foreign country contrary to any law of the United States, or captured, killed, taken, purchased, sold, or possessed contrary to any such law, or captured, killed, taken, shipped, transported, carried, purchased, sold, or possessed contrary to the law of any State, Territory, or the District of Columbia, or foreign country or State, Province, or other subdivision thereof in which it was captured, killed, taken, purchased, sold, or possessed, or in which it was delivered or knowingly received for shipment, transportation, or carriage, or from which it was shipped, transported, or carried or to transport, bring, or convey by any means whatever, from any foreign country into the United States any wild animal, or the dead body or part thereof, captured, killed, taken, shipped, transported, or carried contrary to the law of the foreign country, or State, Province, or other subdivision thereof, in which it was captured, killed, taken, delivered, or knowingly received for shipment, transportation, or carriage, or from which it was shipped, transported, or carried. The act further provides that no person, firm, corporation, or association purchasing or receiving any wild animal, or the dead body or part thereof, imported from any foreign country or shipped, transported, or carried in interstate commerce shall make any false record or render any account that is false in reference thereto.

An amendment of June 15, 1935 (49 State. 380), confers upon employees of the Department of the Interior authorization to enforce the act (in accordance with Reorganization Plan No. 2, transferring certain functions from the Department of Agriculture), power to arrest any person committing a violation of any provision of the act in his presence or view, and also, under warrant, authority to search for and seize any wild animals or the dead bodies or parts thereof shipped, transported, or carried in violation of the act.

An amendment of June 19, 1939 (53 State. 840), provides that all packages or containers, except those from foreign countries, in which the furs, hides, or skins of wild animals are shipped, transported, or carried shall be plainly and clearly marked or labeled on the outside thereof with the names and addresses of the shipper and the consignee.
